A COMFORTABLE place, polite attendants and skilful workmen are some of the inducements which lead Somerville and Cambridge people to have their pictures taken at Pach Brothers, next to Beck Hall near Harvard Square. Mr. Tupper, the manager, has always had signal success with his patrons. If they have been particular, he has been so, too. If they are troublesome, he is patient. His ideas are to serve the public in the fullest extent, and he has brought the cream of society to his studio by so doing.

ESTABLISHED 1872. INCORPORATED 1888.

A FEW THOUGHTS FOR MEN.

The papers are full of items in regard to fashions for women, but very little is said about men's fashions. It really costs only a trifle more for men when ordering garments made, to patronize good firms, and by good, reference is not made to their financial standing, for the most money is made from cheap clothing. Many men are careless in regard to dress and desire simply to look decent; but many, young men especially, wish when ordering clothes, to have if possible the best style, and the details carefully looked after, and are willing to pay a trifle more than for ordinary work. I believe the finest class of Tailoring can be done at a fair profit, and still give a man the best of goods, work and finish; and although I have doubled my business in the past few years, I shall not be satisfied till I can consider every well dressed young man in the city as a patron. FRANK D. SOMERS, TAILOR, 5 Park Street, Boston.
